JOB DESCRIPTION

Title: Regional Ambassador

Position Summary

Regional Ambassadors (RA) help ISI to advance its mission “To Educate for Liberty” at their own college or university and those in the surrounding geographic area. By recruiting ISI members and bringing ISI resources to local campuses, RAs work in tandem with ISI staff to preserve and defend Western Civilization, ordered liberty, and intellectual conservatism.

Description

The Regional Ambassador position extends for one academic year. RAs cultivate ISI’s presence on targeted campuses within their region through increasing student and faculty membership and by starting ISI groups. RAs develop with ISI staff a strategic plan for recruiting many new members throughout their region. ISI also reserves a slot for each Regional Ambassador in a Liberty Fund Weekend Colloquium, one of ISI’s most prestigious and exclusive programs. Each colloquium features a unique topic and is attended by ISI’s most elite students. By enhancing ISI’s ability to reach the rising generation of college students, RAs help to ensure that students are exposed to the values and institutions that sustain a free and humane society.

Compensation

Each Ambassador will receive:

- An all-expenses paid retreat at ISI headquarters
- Opportunities to attend educational programs in their region
- An all-expenses paid ISI weekend colloquium
- A wealth of free ISI books and journals
- Financial reward for members recruited
- Travel stipend
- And much more!

How to Apply

Interested students should submit the following: a resume, description of previous ISI involvement including how you heard about ISI, a photo, and a one-page statement answering the question “Why is there a need for ISI on college campuses today?” Questions and applications can be directed to Michelle Huntley at mhuntley@isi.org, or (302) 524-6132, or 3901 Centerville Road, Wilmington, DE 19807.
